YouTube Transcript API Attribute Error

The provided text is an error message indicating a failure during an attempt to extract a YouTube transcript. Specifically, the error states: "type object 'YouTubeTranscriptApi' has no attribute 'list_transcripts'". This signifies a programmatic issue where the `YouTubeTranscriptApi` object, likely part of a software library or module, does not contain a method or attribute named `list_transcripts`. This typically occurs due to incorrect usage of the API, an outdated library version that has removed or renamed the function, or a change in the library's interface. Consequently, the operation to list or retrieve YouTube transcripts could not be completed.